Does Trump Plan to Stop Obamacare Redistribution of Incomes?

Post-election, the White House is making MAHA changes but is that what caused the shift from right to left in the midterm elections? Calley Means, who until recently led the MAHA movement at the White House, says to win the midterms, officials were taking corporate money from the sugar industry, a very anti-MAHA move.

Meanwhile, Stephen Miller, the new White House chief of staff, wants to rebuild the fractured MAHA coalition.

But what about the core of health care? High prices for care and coverage likely impacted the election more than MAHA. As the Left pushes a Medicare for All national system, who will the White House choose to restore affordable health care? Is there a plan to stop the Obamacare redistribution of incomes?
