It's Not Insurance, It's Government Healthcare

Words matter. Ignore the claims that the individual mandate was repealed. It wasn't. Only the penalty was zeroed out. It went from $695 or 2.5 percent of your income to $0 or zero percent of your income. The next Congress could simply raise it back up—because it's not been repealed.

Next, consider the word “insurance.” One report says New York's insurance enrollment hit 4.3 million. However, of the 4.3 million enrollees, most enrolled in some version of Medicaid. Only 6 percent did not. And those that didn't enroll in Medicaid enrolled in Obamacare—on the government exchange. Medicaid is not insurance. Obamacare is not insurance. It's all government. It's all government health care.
