One Battle You Don't Want to Lose

Nine states and the District of Columbia are planning to resurrect the individual mandate and penalty at a state level. The nine are California, Connecticut, Hawaii, Minnesota, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Vermont and Washington state. No surprise, these states are liberal states.

But many liberals were just as happy as conservatives when the penalty was zeroed out. Only 44 percent of Democrats supported keeping the mandate.

Citizens in these states should go on the offense. They should begin “stop the mandate” campaigns on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. They should raise the roof. Don’t wait. Start the battle even before the bills are written. This is one battle you don’t want to lose.
