Stick With Freedom Not Fear

Obamacare supporters in and out of the media are using fear to try to stop President Trump's short-term health insurance policies. They are trying to kill the flames of freedom by fanning the flames of fear. They are warning of dire consequences and huge medical bills.

Given how much they dislike these policies, it's amusing that one of their complaints is that these policies aren't available to people with uninsurable preexisting conditions. But of course they aren't. They're short-term.

So ignore the protests. Freedom means choices and risks and no one has a right to take those away. Obamacare coverage is unaffordable for many. Trump proposes to bring back an affordable choice. Stick with freedom, not fear.
