The EHR is Not What You Think It is

Today I'm in Las Vegas doing a book signing for Big Brother in the Exam Room. Tomorrow, I'm speaking about exam room surveillance. I'll be talking about how the electronic health record is not what people think it is; how it's a command and control surveillance system foisted on American patients and doctors without their consent, and the dangers that have arisen from this distracting and unworkable technology.

Dr. Jane Orient, who endorsed my book, says it "shows how the [electronic health record] while destroying privacy, also has the opposite of the promised effects on efficiency, reliable record-keeping, and clinical errors." She's right. Buy your copy today at: BigBrotherintheExamRoom.com
