GOP Non-Repeal Bill Written by Health Insurers

The GOP replacement bill has a taxpayer-funded Patient and State Stability Fund. This is the GOP renaming of an Obamacare fund. It's an 8-year $100 billion program. Even more troubling than keeping this fund alive is that the bill empowers federal officials to intervene if a state doesn't apply for the money.

So, if a state refuses to ask for stability grants, the federal government can infringe on state sovereignty. The money will most likely be used to bail out health insurers. This means, when health plans call D.C. to complain, federal officials can make sure these insurers get whatever they want from taxpayers. Like Obamacare, this Republican bill is written for health plans – and it's not a repeal.
