Biden Forced to End Pandemic

On Monday, January 30, President Biden announced he would end the two COVID-19 emergencies. On May 11, he will lift both the national emergency and the public health emergency. Elections matter. I believe the Republican-controlled U.S. House forced his hand. He knew the House planned to vote on bills to end both emergencies that week. On January 31, the House indeed voted to end the public health emergency.

As a reminder, the national emergency on Covid was issued by President Trump on March 13, 2020, and the public health emergency, issued by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, has been in effect since January 31, 2020. It's long past time to end them both.
