OSHA Suspends Biden Vaccine Mandate

President Biden's Covid injection mandate for private businesses is in big trouble. As it should be. OSHA's Emergency Temporary Standard document is a whopping 154 pages of tiny type and large infringements on freedom. Biden knows the mandate is unlawful, but he doesn't care. After the Fifth District Court ordered a stay on the mandate, he said he was moving ahead anyway.

This changed when the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals voted to uphold the district court's decision. In response, on November 16, OSHA, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration announced that it had suspended implementation and enforcement efforts related to the vaccination mandate. The case has been assigned to the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, which should rule Biden's mandate as unconstitutional as it is.
