Does Biden Know We Live in a Republic?

I did not watch President Biden’s State of the Union address. Rather than endure a charade of claims about how his actions have made America strong, I waded through the transcript. Three times he claims we’re a democracy. He may not know, or want you to know, we live in a republic, which it doesn’t matter how many votes one side has. If it defies Constitutional limits, it can be struck down.

After two years of Covid lockdowns, forced masking, vaccine mandates, terminated workers, and shuttered businesses, President Biden claims we all have a duty to the Constitution and an “unwavering resolve that freedom will always triumph over tyranny.” He must be talking about the previous administration, which although it was not perfect, better protected individual rights than Biden ever has.
