Will New Codes Establish U.S. Vaccine Passport?

The CDC has a new system to classify the unvaccinated: the International Classification of Disease Codes, which has long been used by doctors and insurers to precisely identify disease states and injuries. But as Yale's Dr. Harvey Risch points out, vaccination status is not a disease or injury. These "underimmunization" codes, first issued in 2021, were for all types of vaccination, but in 2022, specific codes for the Covid shot were added.

Across all vaccinations, there is no code for being fully vaccinated. There are only codes for various states of being "not fully vaccinated." And several codes specify the person's rationale for refusing vaccination. Is an unconstitutional vaccine passport system being established?
