We Never Needed Fauci's Permission

After pushing to take away freedom for two years, Dr. Fauci now admits the virus is “not going to be eliminated. And what’s going to happen is that we’re going to see that each individual is going to have to make their calculation of the amount of risk they want to take.” Being free is risky, but it’s more risky not to be free, as we’ve seen over the past two years.

We’ve never needed Fauci’s permission to make our own choices, but so many people would not have died if only Dr. Fauci and Biden’s bureaucrats had given Americans the truth to make the best calculated decisions for themselves.

Instead, they lied about ivermectin, the number of Covid deaths, and the vaccine itself. Their lies led to mandates that were deadly — to the people and to the economy. Will Fauci admit that?

“Fauci says it’s now up to Americans to assess their own COVID-19 risk,”
