Will the Unvaxxed be Double Taxed?

Democrats in Rhode Island want everyone injected. They've introduced a "vax or tax" bill to force those who refuse the shot to pay double their personal income tax plus a monthly fine of $50. The mandate is for adults and children who are at least 16 years old. Employers would be deputized to enforce the mandate by requiring proof of compliance at the job site. The bill states, "Any employer found to be knowingly in violation of this section for more than seven (7) days shall be required to pay a monthly civil penalty of five thousand dollars ($5,000) for every violation."

Exemptions require the notarized signatures of three physicians. The bill must never be allowed to pass.
