FDA Approves Modified Boosters Without Proof of Safety

The world has been through a nearly two-year experiment. The Covid injection taken by millions around the world never had the kind of animal or human clinical trials required by the FDA for every other medication. Instead, emergency use authorization was granted with post-vaccination reporting required. Those who took the injection are in the experiment. Those who refused are in the control group.

Now the FDA will not require any clinical trial data before emergency authorization is given to modified Covid booster shots. No one has any idea how the shots will impact the disease or humans. Will you decide to be in the experiment or in the control group?
