Defense Act Funds Global Vaccine Agenda

The short “pandemic act” in the National Defense Authorization Act, now law, allows foreign assistance dollars to be made available to reduce vaccine hesitancy, deliver and administer vaccines, strengthen foreign health systems, enhance transparency of foreign government data systems, and increase testing for symptomatic and asymptomatic cases.

This means our taxpayer dollars will be sent overseas to drive an agenda Americans may oppose. As you may recall, vaccine hesitancy was well warranted and testing for asymptomatic cases of COVID kept the lockdowns in place.
