Covid Climbing in Masked Countries

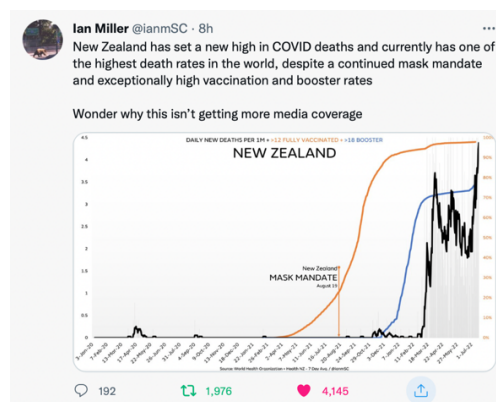

Face masks don't work against airborne viruses. New Zealand has imposed a mask mandate for 12 months. Their population is also nearly 100 percent injected. Yet, they have set a new high in Covid deaths and have one of the highest death rates in the world. Clearly, masks don't work.

But mask mandates are trying to crawl back to life in America, such as the San Diego school mandate. Meanwhile, Connecticut no longer requires masks in hospitals and long-term care settings, where the most-at-risk interact, but the state permits mandates in schools, where the least-at-risk learn and play. Logic has never been part of the mask mandate equation. Do not allow yourself to be masked again.
