Fauci Knew

Dr. Fauci knew early on that COVID-19 had some uncanny similarities to HIV. On February 4, 2020, a researcher in a lab sent him an email about a January 2020 study that showed SARS-CoV-2 might be attacking the key white blood cells that coordinate the body's immune response. Fauci asked an associate to respond.

Now, a 2023 study shows that the COVID-19 virus does attack those cells, making it difficult for your body to kill the Covid virus. The study suggests two ways to stop the virus from attacking the immune system. Would less people have died if Fauci had directed researchers to figure this out back when he first heard that the virus might be attacking not just the lungs, but the immune system?
