Find Long Covid Help — FLCCC Weekly Update

Nearly 20 percent of people who had Covid have at least one symptom of long Covid. The CDC says at least 7.5 percent of adults have long Covid. That's 16 million adults, according to the Census Bureau, with two to four million out of work due to the illness.

If you have long Covid, and its many symptoms, watch the weekly Front Line Covid-19 Critical Care Alliance, or FLCCC, live update. It's every Wednesday at 6:00 p.m. central time. It's also taped and available online. These "Covid care" doctors share what they see, what they're doing, and what helps patients. If you can't find a Covid doctor, this update will be useful. These are doctors being doctors. Go to FLCCC.net. FLCCC.net.
