Health Plans are the “Fox in the Hen House”

The Affordable Care Act has caused massive vertical integration. Health plans are buying clinics, putting delivery and financing of care under one financial roof. In a conflict of interest with patients, the fox is now in the hen house. Health plans have all your premium dollars and the power to control your physicians.

These health plan cartels eliminate freedom and jeopardize patients. The U.S. Supreme Court said HMOs, now called health plans, were established by Congress to ration care. So, your health plan is not health insurance. Health plans are corporate socialism.

Consider engaging with our organization as we work to bring back affordable medical indemnity insurance that lets you go anywhere and does not interfere with your care. That's what real insurance is and that's what patients need.
