Registering All Children With Birth Defects

A database of citizens with birth defects is inherently repugnant, but all 50 states have one. Recall how Adolph Hitler targeted children and adults with birth defects. Eugenics started in the United States, with 27 states sterilizing citizens, but it became deadly in Germany.

Doctors had to register each case of genetic disorder with the courts or face punishment. The reports were filed in specially created data banks, reports the Holocaust Teacher Resource Center. Health officials were sent into the homes of every person reported to have a genetic disease. Many children and adults with disabilities were murdered. State birth defect databases empower eugenic tendencies.
