Rationing in Medicare is Inevitable

The Trump administration wants to limit access to certain medications in the Medicare program. Are you surprised? This kind of rationing is inevitable. When the Medicare Part D drug program became law in 2003, conservatives were angry because it expanded a soon-to-be bankrupt program. Insolvency is expected in eight years.

Margaret Thatcher said the problem with socialism is that “you eventually run out of other people’s money.” The Medicare program has about 60 million recipients, and it’s running out of money. If you want to leave this socialized system without losing your Social Security benefits, sign our petition to President Trump. It’s online at cchfreedom.org. That’s cchfreedom.org
