GOP Senators Push National Database of Patient Information

The Republican “Lower Health Care Costs” bill is unconstitutional. It creates a massive federal database of patient data for third-party access. Senator Rand Paul offered an amendment to strip it from the bill but he got only four votes in support. His amendment to require patient consent was opposed by the author who said it would make the database “unworkable.”

Senator Romney rightly voted for Senator Paul’s amendments and opposed the bill’s proposed price controls on what doctors can charge. He called it a “very one-sided power grab by the insurance industry” which could lead to higher costs. But unlike Senator Paul, Romney voted for the final bill. If you’re opposed to this unconstitutional bill, tweet the President or google “Contact Trump” and let him know.
