Fake Flu Deaths — Fake COVID Deaths

We've been told that seasonal flu kills 36,000 people each year in America. But according to Minnesota's Center for Infectious Disease Research and Policy, that's not true.

First, that number comes from a single 2003 CDC modeling paper. It's a mathematical estimate. Second, "only 9,000 of those estimated annual seasonal deaths are due directly to influenza or secondary bacterial pneumonia." The others have influenza but die from heart attacks or strokes. And third, more than 90 percent of these deaths occur in the elderly, who often have other serious health conditions, which means they may have died soon anyway.

Does this sound familiar? This is exactly what's happening with COVID-19 deaths. We need facts, not fiction.
