Stop the National Patient ID

The health care and health data industries want you to have a government number for all your medical records. This national patient ID will create a national electronic medical records system accessible to the federal government and a cast and crew of outsiders without your consent for purposes you haven’t approved.

Because HIPAA is a data-sharing rule, the proposed National Patient ID would mean that 2.2 million entities could potentially be given online access to every piece of information in your medical record, including financial information. Call your Congressman and U.S. Senator today and tell them to stop the National Patient ID. Stop the National Patient ID.
