Powerful Opportunists Use COVID-19 Crisis

Tomorrow, as Joe Biden becomes commander in chief, the virus will not be under his command, any more than it was under Trump's command. In the midst of this fact, powerful opportunists with global reset agendas have arisen. This week I'm going to share insights from concerned experts who are connecting the dots and alerting the public. If you want to listen to these experts with your own two ears, go to our home page or our Facebook page.

I've transcribed many of their statements lest the recordings disappear into cancel culture. I'm going to report the words of an investment banker who was in the George H. Bush administration, a biochemist PhD who founded a biotech company, and concerned leaders and experts from around the world. The unveiling begins tomorrow.
