Spain Will Track Vaccine Refusers

Spain, which does not mandate vaccination, has created a registry of people who refuse the COVID-19 vaccine. The registry is supposedly “anonymous,” but the names of those who reject vaccination will be shared with other European countries. It will also be used “to understand the causes behind refusing the vaccination.” So exactly how are they defining the word “anonymous”?

Registries are the antithesis of freedom. Registries track and tag people, encouraging profiling, labeling, and intrusion. Spain’s Deputy Director of Nursing worries that the registry will be a “list of the bad people” and adds, “We don’t think a registry should be used to infringe on liberties...” But that’s exactly what registries do. This is why Americans must refuse vaccination certificates.
