Ghandhi Exposes Myth on U.S. Health Care

Welcome to the Health Freedom Minute. This is Twila Brase, president of Citizens' Council for Health Freedom.

Today our office is moving. As we packed, I looked through the liberal World Health Organization report from 2000 that claimed the U.S. health care system ranks number 37 in the world. The report put France, Columbia, Malta, Luxemborg, and Canada ahead of us.

Yet Sonia Ghandhi, president of the ruling party of India, came to America in August to have surgery. She did not go to Dominica, Singapore, Chile, Saudi Arabia, or Greece, all ranked ahead of the U.S. in the report. What's that say?

It says we have really good medical care. In fact, hidden deep in the report, is the fact that America ranks number one in responsiveness to patients. That's true, but keeping it that way will require repeal of Obamacare and rethinking Medicare.
