Find a Physician Who Refuses a National Patient-Tracking Number

Today is Wedge of Freedom Wednesday. Many Americans are looking for physicians whose prices are affordable and whose visits aren’t shorter than the blink of an eye. They want someone who knows their name, someone they can trust and pay direct.

If Congress passes an unconstitutional law to require government to issue patients a federal tracking number for access to medical care, these direct-pay physicians may be the only ones who won’t use this number or require it before they treat you.

Find a direct-pay doctor at JointheWedge.com, and then pick up the phone and tell your U.S. Senator to stop the “national patient-tracking number,” which officially is called a Unique Patient Identifier.
