Are Vaccine Mandates Coming?

Let me thank each of you who donated to our organization this week to help us make the $20,000 match—and to everyone who is considering a year-end donation. We receive no government grants, so we rely on private donations for everything we do. This means our donors can consider themselves part of our every success. So, thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Now, just a few words about the COVID-19 vaccine. I'll say more next week, but the drive to get you to take a vaccine or suffer the consequences is real. Ticketmaster announced last week that it would require a vaccine or a negative COVID test to attend concerts. In short, Big Business and Big Government have banded together in an assault against individual freedom, patient rights, and constitutional liberty. Stay tuned. This is unacceptable.
