January 2, 2017

Hold GOP Feet to the Fire

Congress begins its 115th session tomorrow. Republicans are in charge of the U.S. House and Senate. But Donald Trump does not become president until Inauguration Day, Friday, January 20. That means there are 17 days to get a repeal bill to his desk by Day One. GOP leadership says repealing Obamacare is a priority, but how is “repeal” defined?

Expect fireworks. The House Freedom Caucus wants a full repeal. Some Republicans want to repeal the language but keep the $3 trillion in taxes and fees. Others want to delay repeal so far into the future that Democrats may be able to stop the repeal. YOU must hold GOP feet to the fire.

U.S. House Calendar 2017
Senate Schedule 2017