The Best Reason to Refuse to Enroll

The Obama administration claims that Obamacare sign-ups on healthcare.gov, are a roaring success, but they aren’t. Originally, they estimated 21 million people enrolled in 2016, but so far 2016 enrollment stands at a paltry 8.3 million. And enrollment is not the same as paid premiums. Some will never pay. Others will stop paying.

But what is the major reason you should refuse to enroll, beyond high costs and having your financial information forever in the federal Obamacare database? The answer comes from the lips of President Obama who said, “...the more who sign up, the stronger the system becomes.” The last thing we want is a strong empowered Obamacare. Refuse to enroll.
