Chipping Away at Freedom

When will Congress decide that bringing up children to be dependent on government is a bad idea? How will they ever know or treasure freedom? Last week, in a bill to keep the government open for just one month, House Republicans offered to extend the lapsed Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP) for six years at a cost of nearly $125 billion.

These taxpayer dollars go to states, which hand them over to health plans whether the children ever see a doctor or not. Government programs are a cash cow for health plans. What will Congress next fund with your dollars to keep the government open for just one month? What kind of negotiation is this, and who are the members of Congress working for?

Presented daily by Twila Brase, President, Citizens’ Council for Health Freedom.

The Health Freedom Minute is now heard in 47 states: Mornings M-Th at AM1280 (The Patriot) in MN and 91.5 AM WHKC (FreedomFM) in OH, afternoons on American Family Radio, and daily on the CSN network and Bott Radio Network.
