Obamacare State By State

Liberals want states to embed Obamacare in state law. Five former officials from the Obama administration have written an article telling state legislatures what to do to keep Obamacare alive and kicking. First, they want states to restore the individual mandate by adopting a state penalty for people who remain uninsured.

They want to improve affordability by bailing out insurers—in essence having taxpayers pay insurers to keep the cost of premiums low. They also want to require health plans to comply with Obamacare’s costly requirements and mandated health benefits. Finally, they want states to enroll as many people as possible in Obamacare. Make sure you say no.
