Bailouts Go Bust

Last week, Republicans tried to give health plans a $60 billion bailout. But opposition was fierce from both sides. The bailouts were a pay-off to health plans in exchange for lower premiums. Thus, Congress would have used your tax dollars to buy lower premiums from health plans.

This would not reduce costs. It would simply change how they were paid. The plan was a political shell game to garner votes in November. The public would see the lower premiums, not the higher taxes. The bailouts would entrench Obamacare, advancing a system of permanent wage redistribution from your pocket to health plan coffers. The bailouts were meant to save Obamacare, not repeal it.
