Still Time For Real Repeal

July 3, 2017

Liberal news media are rejoicing that the Senate health care bill is in trouble. But what’s really in trouble is the repeal of Obamacare. When we were in Washington, D.C. two weeks ago meeting with members, staffers, leadership and the Trump administration, we made one point very clear.

Republicans won nationwide because they committed to repealing Obamacare. Even if the repeal vote failed, it would provide protective cover for other initiatives to disable Obamacare. But if they refuse to even vote on a two-page repeal bill, and if Americans figure out that they are instead passing a Republican version of Obamacare, they are going to lose the next election. They return from recess on July 10.
