What America Means to You

It’s Independence Day in America. Today honors the Founding Fathers who pledged their lives, fortunes and sacred honor to establish America – a nation that supports life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; the greatest and most prosperous nation the world has ever seen. Let’s also remember the soldiers on battlefields and on our home-front, warriors fighting daily to protect us and our constitutional Republic.

Anti-American tyrants are everywhere: in Congress, schools, blue- and white-collar jobs and even on the ball fields. And too many young Americans support socialism and communism. They speak without knowledge. They think without insight. As the stars and stripes passes by today, tell a young person what America means to you.
