Dangerous Plan to Control Doctors

Two former federal bureaucrats don’t want doctors to be paid for their time, skills, expertise, or actual services. They want them to be paid only according to the value health plans and government assign to the services. Would your plumber agree to this? I don’t think so. It would be considered fraud, theft or both.

They also want Congress to repeal federal prohibitions that keep hospitals from offering doctors more money if they treat patients according to the hospital’s preferences, which may or may not be best for the patient. Almost 1/3 of doctors are hospital employees due to the high costs of Obamacare, Medicare and mandated electronic health records. Now hospitals want to tell them what to do. Congress should say no.
