Resist the Power of the EHR

A physician told me he wasn’t too far into my book before his jaw dropped. He was shocked by what he didn’t know.

One of the most important things I want readers to understand is that the purpose of the electronic health record, the EHR, is not patient care. It is outside control of treatment decisions. Patients are in this dangerous position because Congress passed laws to put outsiders in control of paying medical bills. And now these outsiders are using the EHR to tell doctors how to practice medicine, even if it hurts the patient.

Buy the book at BigBrotherInTheExamRoom.com and use the suggested action steps to resist the power of the EHR.
