Patient Data Weaponized Against Us All

As you may know, I’ve written a book. It was released just two months ago and already it’s been on an Amazon Best Seller list three times. I wrote it as an exposé and a tool in the American patriot’s tool box. But you might wonder why you need another book.

In a book review, a physician at the Cato Institute wrote that the “Electronic Health Record is nothing more than a government health surveillance system,” and he concludes by writing, “‘Big Brother In The Exam Room’ is the first book to catalog in meticulous detail the dangerous ways in which health information technology is being weaponized against us all. Everyone should read it.” Find it at BigBrotherInTheExamRoom.com
