Medicare’s 22% Paid for It

People say Medicare is not an entitlement program because they’re only getting back what they paid for. This is a myth. Medicare is a Ponzi scheme. Early Medicare recipients made out like bandits. Baby Boomers are facing rationing, and the young are paying for a program that they’ll never get to use.

U.S. Senator Rob Portman says “a typical couple retiring next year will have paid approximately $140,000 in lifetime Medicare taxes and premiums, yet will receive nearly $430,000 in Medicare benefits.” Medicare can’t survive with more going out than comes in. It’s time to change the law so individuals can opt out of Medicare, stop paying the tax, and protect themselves from rationing.
