Stay Tuned on Trump Executive Order

Last week President Trumps signed an executive order on health care. It will allow small businesses and perhaps individuals to join together in something called Association Health Plans.

These plans could then count as “large group” insurance under the Affordable Care Act, which would exempt them from various mandates, including the ten-essential-benefits mandate, which is highly expensive, covering services you may or may not need.

Employees will likely be able to use tax-free dollars to buy their own insurance. Will this allow catastrophic coverage options for all Americans? That’s remains to be seen. Regulators will be empowered to decide some of the changes. So stay tuned…
