Tonight’s Final Debate

Tonight is the third and final debate between Donald Trump and Hillary Clinton. In the second presidential debate, health care showed up in a big way.

Hillary Clinton spoke out of two sides of her mouth. She said the “highest priority of the next president” is reining in health care costs. But then she discussed so-called benefits of Obamacare, all of which have caused premiums and deductibles to skyrocket. She apparently hopes the public can’t figure that out.

Hillary wants to fix Obamacare and Trump wants to repeal it. Meanwhile, The Wedge of Health Freedom is restoring freedom to patients and doctors here and now. More doctors are joining every week. On this Wedge of Freedom Wednesday, check out jointhewedge.com.

Presented daily by Twila Brase, President, Citizens’ Council for Health Freedom.