Stealthy Single-Payer Plan

Did you know States might be able to set up a single-payer system without approval from Congress? Starting next year, Section 1332 of Obamacare lets States avoid Obamacare’s dictates as long as States create a system that achieves similar results.

One policy expert thinks State legislatures could simply ask the Federal government to give them their proportion of Obamacare subsidies and use these billions of dollars to create publicly-run plans in each state.

Because of Obamacare, Americans in every state face huge premium increases next year, some as high as sixty-seven percent. State legislators should remember that we need freedom to drop prices, not single-payer.
