What Wedge Practices Don’t Do

I was talking recently to a physician from Ohio. His practice is listed in The Wedge of Health Freedom. This means that he takes only cash, check or charge. He doesn’t take insurance, Medicare, Medicaid or Obamacare.

A primary reason that many patients see him instead of another doctor is because they want privacy. The details of private lives, test results, doctor’s notes, diagnoses, medications and medical procedures are all kept totally confidential.

Wedge practices do not share your data without your express consent and that’s exactly how it should be. And they don’t hook up to the grid or a state health information network. To keep your information confidential, go to
