Vote Today to Protect Future of Freedom

The outcome of today’s election could mean four more years of Obamacare, or Obamacare forever, or the end of Obamacare. It could mean reclaiming freedom or sliding into single-payer.

The future of health care lies in the hands of voters and those they elect. The fate of Obamacare will be determined not only by the president, but by Congress, and the States. Congress can amend or repeal the law. The president can impact the law by regulations, executive orders or a signature on a bill. And states can choose to stand up and reclaim their 10th Amendment rights over health care.

Your vote today counts. Don’t miss the opportunity to try to undo Obamacare and protect the future of health freedom for you and for future generations.
