Will Obamacare Supporter Cut Income to Get Subsidies?

A California couple who support Obama just lost their insurance plan. Kaiser said their plan is no longer allowed under Obamacare and their new premium is $1,300 instead of $550. Plus their out of pocket maximum is nearly $1000 higher, their deductible is $500 higher and they’ll pay 40% of hospital visits, not 30.

Shocked, they went shopping. The cheapest Obamacare plan is $975. So, they’re thinking about lowering his salary or shifting more money into a retirement account and then applying for a taxpayer funded subsidy. In other words, they are going to lower their standard of living to get taxpayers to foot the bill.
