Reasons 2 and 3 to Refuse to Enroll in Obamacare

Yesterday I asked you to refuse to enroll in Obamacare. I gave you the first reason of seven reasons to refuse, the high cost of Obamacare. Today I’ll cover two more reasons to refuse.

The second reason is limited choice of providers. Many coverage options on the government exchange severely limit what doctors, clinics, specialists and hospitals you can go to. This means longer drives and longer waits. It also means the specialists that you need may not be available to you.

Likewise, the third reason to refuse is because you’re limited to more restrictive managed care plans. True insurance has been outlawed by Obamacare for most people. Listen tomorrow for more reasons to refuse to enroll.
