U.S. Supreme Court to Hear Obamacare

Welcome to the Health Freedom Minute. This is Twila Brase, president of Citizens’ Council for Health Freedom.

Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court said they will take up Obamacare. Three lawsuits have been consolidated and three questions will be considered. First, whether the individual mandate to purchase health insurance is constitutional. Second, if it’s not, how much of the rest of the law should be scrapped. And third, whether this is the right time for the court to rule.

Some say the Supreme Court should not rule until the individual mandate goes into effect in 2014. They say until there’s actual harm, no ruling should be made.

The Supreme Court will issue a decision on these questions by June -- in time to make the presidential election even more interesting.
