The Power of Twenty Dollars

Although Obamacare prohibits insurers from denying coverage for pre-existing conditions -- and saddles taxpayers and healthy enrollees with the bill – health-sharing groups don’t have to cover such conditions, but they often lighten the load.

For example, Samaritan Ministries gives members a name and address of another member with a condition not covered by the ministry because they had it before they joined. Members are asked to donate just $20. Here’s what one member wrote: “I completely underestimated the power of $20. Twenty dollars from generous members multiplied many times relieved the pressure of my medical bills for a pre-existing condition. Now I will no longer think that a gift of $20 is insignificant.” Check out more letters online.
