Vote for Your Future

Tomorrow is election day. In 2008, an estimated 17 million Evangelical Christians did not vote. They stayed home. You have only one vote, but it counts. In Ohio, 300,000 evangelical Christians did not vote in 2008 and Barack Obama won the state by just over 262,000 votes. Would he have won by more votes or lost the state? We don’t know. But Ohio shows how important every vote is.

You can leave work to vote if necessary. You can take your children with you. Don’t have a car? Ask for a ride. Tell your friends and family to vote. This election is critical to the future of America and freedom. Don’t stay home tomorrow. Please vote.
