Obama Administration is Running Rogue

Healthcare.gov may be working but 40 percent of the federal exchange is not built. So the president has decided to put taxpayer dollars at great risk and violate the law -- just get as many people into the Exchange as possible. This is called running rogue.

First, Obama says the IRS can pay taxpayer-funded premium subsidies for people who cannot prove they deserve them. Second, he says these subsidies can be paid to insurers according to what insurers say the government owes them despite no documentation to prove it. Third, he says states can enroll people into Medicaid without proper verification of eligibility. This all demonstrates the desperation of the administration.
